

Transitions between the study programmes are possible in accordance with the Higher Education Act, the Criteria for transitions between study programmes, and other regulations.

In accordance with the Criteria for transitions between study programmes, the candidates enrol:

- In the second or higher year of the higher professional study programme Informatics and Technologies of Communication, when it comes to the termination of education according to the first study programme and continuation of studies according to another study programme of the same degree, or enrolment of a higher education graduate in a new study programme of the same degree. Candidates from the fields of information and communication technologies, technical and natural sciences and mathematics can transfer to the first-degree higher professional study programme Informatics and Technologies of Communication.
- Enrolment of a higher professional study programme graduate in the second year of the higher professional study programme of the first-degree study programme Informatics and Technologies of Communication is possible in the field of information and communication technologies, technical and natural sciences, and mathematics.

The transition is possible if the candidate meets the following conditions:

- They meet the conditions for enrolment in the first year of the higher professional study programme of the first-degree study programme Informatics and Technologies of Communication;
- They transfer from the study programme, which at the end of the study ensures the acquisition of comparable competencies or learning outcomes;
- Upon transition, at least half of the obligations under the European Credit Transfer and Accumulation System (hereinafter referred to as: the ECTS) from the first study programme, which relate to the compulsory subjects of the second study programme were recognised.

The competent commission of the Senate of the faculty at which the candidate intends to continue their studies decides on the transition from one study programme to another. In accordance with the Rules on the Recognition of Knowledge and Skills in the Study Programmes of the University of Maribor, the candidate must submit to the Faculty the following:

- An application for the recognition of knowledge and skills at the University of Maribor;
- A certificate of completed study obligations (exams) with the obtained grades and number of credit points;
- A validated curricula according to which knowledge has been acquired;
- A proof of payment of the procedure.

When transferring from one study programme to another, completed study obligations may be recognised for the candidate, taking into account the content, scope and complexity of knowledge of the new programme, and may be assigned new obligations to complete the new study programme.

In the case of enrolment restriction, candidates are selected on the basis of the ECTS exam credits awarded to them at the study programme in which they wish to enrol.